

MASK AND FACE

By Dr. Lucas Murrey

In 2023 I filed a lawsuit against an amorphous group of alleged women who, encouraged by Facebook and other such unlawful monopoly platforms, doxed, humiliated, damaged, and stalked countless of unknowing people under the false excuse of protecting themselves. They have contacted news outlets to make this action known to the public. By now various new outlets have contacted me requesting a statement.

Thus far in my action, there are ten named defendants, most of whom I have never met, but all of whom seem to value privacy for themselves, but not for others. These women include Kelly Gibbons, Olivia Burger, and Elly Shariat (as I will include more information about this evolving situation here at: <https://sickoscoop.com/lucas>, please check back).

After posting my private information and whereabouts for months, these women, with whom I have hardly spoken, if ever, are now claiming that I am harassing THEM by suing them (examples of their outright stalking behavior will likely be posted here: <https://sickoscoop.com/lucas>, please check back).

Olivia Burger, for instance, is a woman who I realized upon meeting her, was not what she represented herself to be. Within less than fifteen minutes of meeting Burger, I made up an excuse to politely leave. I was nice enough to apologize for the abrupt departure. I wanted to let her down gently (for examples of the damage Burger has done to others on Facebook and other such platforms will likely be posted here: <https://sickoscoop.com/lucas>, please check back).

Kelly Gibbons is someone who I never met. Her pictures were heavily distorted by extreme filters. After feeling I had been catfished by other women, including, but not limited to the one mentioned above (women who use odd angles and exclude features to appear different from who they truly are), I did not feel comfortable continuing to engage with Kelly Gibbons. However, instead of going her separate way peacefully, Gibbons published on Facebook and other such forums countless threads and comments to instigate others to harass and harm me, constantly bumping up her own posts to keep the threads live for years (examples of the damage Gibbons has done to others on Facebook and other such platforms will likely be posted here: <https://sickoscoop.com/lucas>, please check back).

Elly Shariat is a person who claims I saw her in person and attempted to talk to her. This is someone with whom I do not remember talking nor connecting in any way. I do not see a record of any communication with her. She is someone who made up a fictional story about me and posted it in this same discussion (examples of the damage for which Shariat is responsible on Facebook and other such platforms will likely be posted here: <https://sickoscoop.com/lucas>, please check back).

Perhaps these women are not successful at dating for obvious reasons. They use misleading pictures, perhaps do not bring much to the table, and are drowning in their self-absorbed insecurities.

But many women are not like this.

Together they seem to be misled by one person: “Paola Sanchez” who is suspected of being the administrator of this and many other groups. Sanchez goes so far as to give interpretations of the law to assure naive women into thinking that they can post anonymously on Facebook and never get caught. Sanchez does not tell them that anonymous identities can be subpoenaed and unmasked. Worse, Sanchez and others are targeting innocent people and going after those who lack the knowledge and resources to navigate our legal system, which is suspiciously complex by design. Sanchez seems to exploit these women, blinding them from the truth of Facebook for her (and Facebook’s) own personal gain (examples of the damage for which Sanchez and other admins, moderators, et al. are responsible on Facebook and other such platforms will likely be posted here: sickoscoop.com/lucas, please check back).

Paola Sanchez does not protect women. I want women to know that they should not trust her. Do not be naive.

As noted above, this is but my first statement regarding this action. And although this hardly scratches the surface – consider the volume of Facebook accounts who participated in this online conspiracy to cyberbully and gang-stalk countless victims – I would like to conclude with one final comment:

In truth, I do not think this is about dating. And this is not only about women who are “butt-hurt”, because I refused to meet with them, for example, when I realized they were “cat-fishing” and did not look like their pictures. I have never met, much less dated 99% of the 238 Facebook accounts harassing, defaming and doxing me, invading my privacy, and worse. Because these female Facebook accounts operate in secret and anonymously, they could be men, agencies, and/or institutions seeking to influence, control and harm the populace.

As noted above, I suspect their mafia boss is linked to the fake Facebook account “Paola Sanchez” as well as other administrators and moderators. Many are openly linked to United States, Israeli and other National Security State Agencies, all of whom work closely with Facebook, Twitter, Google, Youtube, Apple, TikTok, Weibo, RED et al.

Not only do said platforms and agencies (who are lawfully required to serve us the people) fail to stop criminal activity. They encourage criminal behavior.

This is why I do not really use any of the above-noted fake social media platforms like Facebook.

Instead, I use the BSV blockchain-based social media platform Sickoscoop.com.

We need to re-imagine the Internet free of primitive platforms like Facebook. Because of its use of BSV

Sicko is a superior platform where one can exercise free speech and stand behind what he or she says. Here the cyberbully hiding in the shadows is dragged into the light.
